

THE LAURENCE COLLOQUENT FRENCHER SERIES

This year the French Section of the RCS Department is resuming

This series is dedicated to foster and enhance interdisciplinary research on French and Francophone Studies from students and faculty members at MSU.

Theme Spring 2013: Body Politics and Poetics - The Representations of the Body in French and Francophone literature and cinema

We are happy to begin our series with four speakers from four different departments who will share their innovative research with faculty members and students. The topic for this semester is the representation of the body in French and Francophone culture/literature/theater/arts and its relation to society, including images of sublimation, eroticism, deconstruction, rebellion, suppression, etc.

Fridays, between 2:00pm and 3:00pm Wells B342

30 minutes presentation & questions/discussion

- 02/22 :: Dr. Daniel Smith
Department of Theatre
- 03/22 :: Dr. Lilly Woodruff
Department of Art and Art History
- 04/5 :: Dr. Rocio Quispe-Agnoli
Department of Romance and Classical Studies
[Room change: Wells B100]
- 04/19 :: Dr. David Bering-Porter
Department of English

